1.6 Subdivision 1. Information to patients. Health care providers who provide 1.7 health care services to a pregnant woman, when those services are directly related to 1.8 the pregnancy, must, by the 30th week of pregnancy, provide the pregnant woman with
1.9 information about cord blood banking that is sufficient to allow an informed decision
1.10 on whether to participate in a public or private umbilical cord blood banking program.
1.11 Publications prepared by the commissioner according to subdivision 3 must be provided
1.12 in a timely manner and shall constitute compliance with this subdivision.

1.15 if that information conflicts with the provider's religious beliefs.

1.20 blood banking;

1.21 (2) medical processes involved in the collection of umbilical cord blood;

1.22 (3) medical risks to a mother and newborn child of umbilical cord blood collection;

1.23 (4) current and potential future medical uses and benefits of umbilical cord blood

2.8 programs.

2.9 Subd. 4. Donation of umbilical cord blood. (a) Unless it is medically inadvisable,
2.10 all health care facilities and health care providers that provide care to pregnant women
2.11 during labor and delivery shall, if requested by the woman, permit the pregnant woman to
2.12 arrange for an umbilical cord blood donation.

2.13 (b) Nothing in this section imposes an obligation upon a health care facility or health
2.14 care provider to permit an umbilical cord blood donation if, in the provider's professional
2.15 judgment, the donation of umbilical cord blood would threaten the health of the mother
2.16 or newborn child.

2.17 (c) Nothing in this section imposes an obligation upon a health care facility or health
2.18 care provider to permit an umbilical cord blood donation if the donation conflicts with
2.19 the provider's religious beliefs. If a health care facility or health care provider declines to
2.20 engage in umbilical cord blood donation, that fact must be disclosed to pregnant patients
2.21 of the facility or provider as soon as reasonably feasible.
